

Join the Australian Wheels of Justice!

Wheels of Justice are a group of Australian cyclists who happen to enjoy riding bicycles, who have had enough of negative attitudes and want to see positive changes for all road users.

The Eugene McGee case in South Australia and the Australian Women's Road Team accident in Germany have provoked national discussion in Australia concerning cyclist's rights, and related legal issues. The Wheels of Justice movement, press coverage, print and radio media coverage, and national rides in Adelaide, Brisbane, Melbourne and Sydney on Saturday 7th May 2005 have made a difference.

The Wheels of Justice group has been created to assist with national dialogue, grassroots networking and create positive changes for all cyclists on Australian roads. So please feel free to contact us and contribute your thoughts, constructive criticism and discussions.

Our three aims are

- Education We want to see drivers educated that cyclists have a right to be on the road and that they have a duty of care towards cyclists.
- Enforcement We want to see the existing traffic laws properly enforced to protect the safety of all road users and full penalties applied.
- Accountability We want all road users to be held accountable for their own actions, and the systems to be in place to ensure that happens.

Get involved & contact us

Email auswoj@gmail.com
Web <http://www.woj.com.au>

Join the Australian Wheels of Justice!

Wheels of Justice are a group of Australian cyclists who happen to enjoy riding bicycles, who have had enough of negative attitudes and want to see positive changes for all road users.

The Eugene McGee case in South Australia and the Australian Women's Road Team accident in Germany have provoked national discussion in Australia concerning cyclist's rights, and related legal issues. The Wheels of Justice movement, press coverage, print and radio media coverage, and national rides in Adelaide, Brisbane, Melbourne and Sydney on Saturday 7th May 2005 have made a difference.

The Wheels of Justice group has been created to assist with national dialogue, grassroots networking and create positive changes for all cyclists on Australian roads. So please feel free to contact us and contribute your thoughts, constructive criticism and discussions.

Our three aims are

- Education We want to see drivers educated that cyclists have a right to be on the road and that they have a duty of care towards cyclists.
- Enforcement We want to see the existing traffic laws properly enforced to protect the safety of all road users and full penalties applied.
- Accountability We want all road users to be held accountable for their own actions, and the systems to be in place to ensure that happens.

Get involved & contact us

Email auswoj@gmail.com
Web <http://www.woj.com.au>

Join the Australian Wheels of Justice!

Wheels of Justice are a group of Australian cyclists who happen to enjoy riding bicycles, who have had enough of negative attitudes and want to see positive changes for all road users.

The Eugene McGee case in South Australia and the Australian Women's Road Team accident in Germany have provoked national discussion in Australia concerning cyclist's rights, and related legal issues. The Wheels of Justice movement, press coverage, print and radio media coverage, and national rides in Adelaide, Brisbane, Melbourne and Sydney on Saturday 7th May 2005 have made a difference.

The Wheels of Justice group has been created to assist with national dialogue, grassroots networking and create positive changes for all cyclists on Australian roads. So please feel free to contact us and contribute your thoughts, constructive criticism and discussions.

Our three aims are

- Education We want to see drivers educated that cyclists have a right to be on the road and that they have a duty of care towards cyclists.
- Enforcement We want to see the existing traffic laws properly enforced to protect the safety of all road users and full penalties applied.
- Accountability We want all road users to be held accountable for their own actions, and the systems to be in place to ensure that happens.

Get involved & contact us

Email auswoj@gmail.com
Web <http://www.woj.com.au>

